

About David Jones: Austin Community Leader and Political Advocate

David Jones is a dedicated grassroots organizer and U.S. Air Force Veteran who has served the Austin, Texas community since the early 1990s. With over 20 years of experience as a Health and Wellness Advocate, David is a powerful voice for systematic change in Texas politics.

Champion for Austin Tenant Rights and Affordable Housing

David is a leading advocate for tenant rights and fair housing in Central Texas. He is “mad as Hell” about the current state of economic survival and the lack of affordable housing in Austin. His advocacy focuses on:

- Housing Justice: Fighting for renters’ rights and stabilization.
- Economic Equity: Protecting vulnerable residents from displacement.
- Political Reform: challenging “bad politics” to ensure transparent, community focused governance.

A Foundation of Service and Expertise

With a master’s degree in business administration and over 20 years as a dynamic Health and Wellness Advocate, David brings a unique blend of strategic leadership and frontline experience to the table. His diverse professional background includes roles as:

- HIV/AIDS Education and Prevention Specialist
- Former Licensed Insurance Agent
- Property Tax Contractor
- Code Enforcement Assistant

This multifaceted career has given David an insider’s view of the systems that impact everyday Texans, fueling his drive for systemic reform.

Championing Grassroots Power

David doesn’t just talk about change: he builds the infrastructure for it. As an experienced Toastmasters speaker, he knows how to mobilize a crowd. He played a role in helping create and design the website for the League of Independent Voters of Texas (LIV), empowering citizens to take back their voice.

Fighting for Economic Survival and Housing Justice

David is an unwavering advocate for tenant rights and affordable housing. He is “mad as hell” about the current state of Texas politics and is committed to fighting for the economic survival of all residents. David combines deep compassion for his community with a fierce, uncompromising stance against the political status quo, demanding decent, affordable housing and government that works for the people.
